Fax Header Local ID

The Fax Header Local ID can be used to set the ID of the Sending Modem when Sending a Fax using the FaxFinder Client. The Modem ID string is displayed in the header information of a sent fax. For many Fax machines, it is the phone number of the sending fax machine. The default is the Modem Fax ID which is set via Modem Configuration in the FaxFinder Server web interface. Phone Number will use the Identification Tab's Phone number field as the Modem ID string. Fax Number will use the Identification Tab's Fax number field as the Modem ID string.

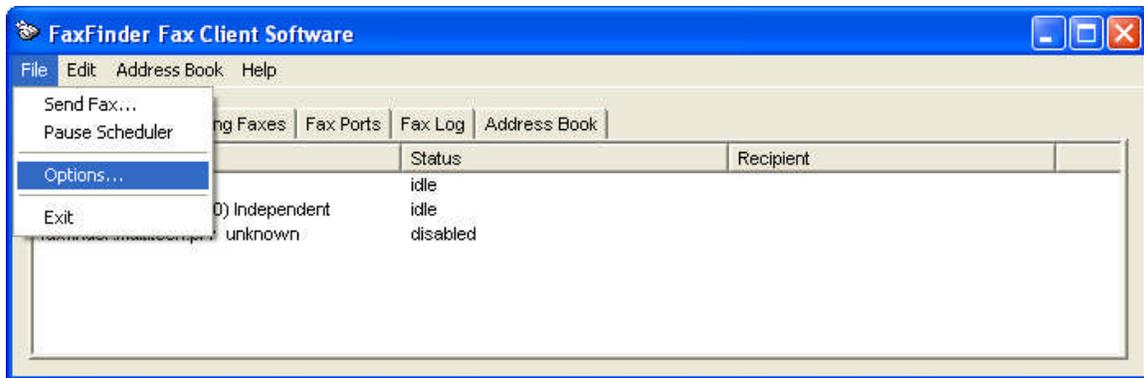

The Modem ID String for an out going fax will be set to the Modem ID String via the Modem Configuration Page in the FaxFinder Server web interface.

Logging Options

Logging Options can be used to alter the default logging options for the Device Manager. Normally, changes to these options are not required, unless directed by Tech-Support.

Dialog Response Control

The Dialog that appears when sending a fax to a person that is not in the FaxFinder Client Address Book can be controlled so the same answer is used every time the dialog would appear. The response can be saved, so the dialog does not require a response from the user.

If you check the Remember this response box, the response you select will be remembered. In other words, if you check Remember this response, and click the No button, recipients added using the + button on the Send Fax Form will never be automatically added to the Address book. If you check Remember this response, and click the Yes button, recipients added using the + button on the Send Fax Form will always be automatically added to the Address book.
